Re: Roberta Lang Variance, Knox Twp.

Dear Steve:

The Planning Commission discussed the above matter at its October 8, 1986 meeting. The purpose of the discussion was essentially an update of the situation and my relating a conversation with Nilo Brown, the current owner of the former Porter lands containing the "cabin road" and the easement in question.

Mr. Brown indicated to me he had spoken with the potential buyers of the 5 acre tract (from Long) and saw no problem in their use of the easement for access. He offered that he may be even willing to grant permission for the potential grantees to use his drive which covers a portion of the old cabin road. He did, however, object to Long using the easement or having any access through his property. Apparently he is convinced the "cabin road" easement only provides access to the 5 acre tract and not the entire 75 acres owned by Long; efforts to convince him otherwise were seemingly unsuccessful. He noted the 70 acres had legal frontage on CR 23.

To clarify the position of this office, the members have agreed to permit the transfer provided a legal description of the easement (i.e., at least a centerline description) is included with the plat to be prepared and submitted to the Tax Map Office per the usual procedure.

Should you have questions, please advise.

Sincerely,

Tom Magawelo
